THE JUDGE ORGANIZATION

Basic Concept - Maximize Loading for Ocean Transport

- Maximum weight that can be loaded in a forty foot container and transported on US highways is generally 44,000 lbs. (20 MT)
- Heavy weight containers are legal on the ocean portion of the movement.
- Forty foot containers typically have a maximum rated capacity (which is marked inside each container) between 59,000 and 67,000 lbs.
- Normally four heavy containers replace five typical containers

Program Advantages

- Ocean Freight Savings up to 20%
- Reduced total door-to-door costs
- Improved transit time
- Port of New York usually first U.S. Port inbound and last outbound

How Does The Program Work?

Import

- Heavy loaded containers picked up at Port Newark - Elizabeth Marine Terminal by P. Judge Trucking and transported to our warehouse
- Containers stripped and empty container returned to steamship line. Product either stored or cross docked into boxcars, (rail wagons), trucks or intermodal trailers at legal domestic over-the-road weights
- Our inland delivery rates are usually significantly lower than steamship line container delivery pricing.

Export

- Boxcars, trucks and intermodal trailers are delivered to our warehouse and product is transferred into ocean containers
- Heavy loaded containers are delivered to Port Newark - Elizabeth Marine Terminal by P. Judge Trucking
